Some of the certification organizations that require a good, solid minimum knowledge base to earn their certification are the ISSA International Sports Sciences Association, the ACSM American Collage of Sports Medicine, the NSCA National Strength and Conditioning Association, and on a somewhat lesser level, but still an acceptable certification is the ACE American Council on Exercise. Some others like the NAFC National Association for Fitness Certification or the NFPT National Federation of Professional Trainers are a lot less strict for their certification requirements. Recently, I figured out that if I applied lipstick that my face would grow to two times its regular size.

If I wiped off the lipstick, I could get my head back almost into its regular shape. I didnt have a lot of time to figure out what was in lipstick but I put it down to fragrance and some of the others on the ingredient list.
